Burglars Foiled On Seventh Visit

CONCORD, Calif. (AP)—Burglars dipped six times into Joe Molino's restaurant safe in 18 months. They got $2,500. Tuesday, the seventh time, the safe was empty. On top was this sign: "Please try some other place. We can't stand much more of this."

Situation Is Unaltered by Gromyko Talk

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
GENEVA (AP)—Western foreign ministers reportedly decided today to call for an early showdown with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in secret talks over the Berlin crisis. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and ministers of Britain, France and West Germany agreed in a midday strategy meeting, officials said, that Gromyko should be told the time has come for the Soviet Union—which touched off the crisis last November—to put up new, constructive proposals for a solution. Ten to One Shot Winner of Annual Derby at Epsom

EPSOM, England (AP)—Sir Humphrey de Trafford's Parthia, a 10-1 shot, today won the 190th and richest running of the Epsom Derby. G. A. Oldham's Fidalgo was second. There was a photo for third between Baron Guy de Rothschild's Shantung and Aly Khan's St. Crespin III, with Shantung getting the decision. Two American-owned entries, Mrs. P. A. B. Widener's Dan Coid and Josephine Bay Paul's Arkav failed to get in the money. An Irish hospital's sweepstakes is based on the outcome of the race. Parthia won the mile and a half race over a hard-baked turf course by a half-length. Fidalgo was another half-length ahead of Shantung. The running time was 2:36, compared with Mahmoud's record of 2:33.8. Parthia and Fidalgo both started at 10-1 in the betting. Shantung was the 11-2 favorite and St. Crespin also was 10-1. The victory was worth $101,018 to owner Sir Humphrey. Second prize was $11,950 and third $5,975. Parthia was ridden by jockey Harry Carr. Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip were among the estimated 250,000 spectators who watched the race on a sunny day.

Gavin Heads Fight to Retain Allocation for Kinzua Dam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Pennsylvania congressmen say they will fight to keep in reserve the $1,400,000 allocated for construction work on an Allegheny River dam at Kinzua. Rep. Ivo D. Fenton and Rep. Leon H. Gavin, both Republicans, Tuesday protested the House Appropriations Committee recommendation to divert the allocated sum to other projects. Fenton, a member of the committee, said that the bill is already being reworded to prevent diversion of the allocation. He said, however, that no definite word on the proposed language change will be available until Wednesday. Fenton said that the proposal to divert the funds came as "a shock to me." Gavin, in whose district the dam

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today there has been no detectable progress at the Geneva talks that would justify a summit conference. Eisenhower called at a news conference for Russia to show some willingness to reach at least preliminary agreement at the foreign ministers sessions. Soviet Union ought to make, for example, a clear commitment that Western rights in Berlin will not be impeded pending reunification of Germany. Eisenhower said there also are other good faith approaches which the Soviet Union could take. He added that some recent statements by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev have not been calculated to ease East-West tensions. The President spoke out against the background of his call a week ago for a measure of progress at Geneva if Russia really wants a summit conference. He sounded that call when he met at the White House with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and the foreign ministers of Britain, France and the United States. GOVERNMENT—Eisenhower said he has given some thought to whether this country's system of federal government should be revamped somewhat along the lines of the British parliamentary system. He came up with that when asked for an expression of his views about the possibility of election of another Republican president in 1960 with both houses of Congress remaining in the possession of the Democratic opposition. Fatal Shooting of Boy By Brother Accidental

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The fatal shooting of a 12-year-old boy by his 14-year-old brother in Pittsburgh's Edgewood section has been termed accidental by police. Officers said Stephen Koenig was toying with a .38 caliber revolver Tuesday when it discharged, killing Danny Koenig who was standing about three feet away. The boys' parents, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Koenig, were not home at the time.

Woman Found Dead Is Victim of Foul Play

CANONSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A woman found dead in an East Finley Twp. berry patch last Friday has been identified as Mrs. Rose P. Price, a 42-year-old grandmother from Canonsburg. Dr. Louis Kantor, a Canonsburg dentist, established her identity through an upper denture he fitted in 1942. Dist. Atty. Michael A. Hanna of Washington County said today he is certain Mrs. Price was the victim of foul play. Mrs. Price, an unemployed waitress, was last seen getting into a car with an unidentified man in Canonsburg Feb. 17.

C.I.O. President Witness Before House Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—AFL-CIO President George Meany said today employer organizations are trying to weaken and perhaps abolish labor unions through restrictive legislation. In testimony prepared for a House Labor subcommittee, Meany contended that "grave and irreparable harm to the United States trade union movement" would result from Senate changes in the original bill introduced by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.). "We support legislation that will get at the crooks," he said. "We oppose legislation that will do harm to the trade union movement." Without naming them, he said employer organizations are trying to convince Congress that the Senate-passed bill is "too weak," even with the amendments his organization opposes.

Blind Justice Says He's Enjoying Life

WOONSOCKET, R. I. (AP)—Blind William E. Powers, an associate justice of the Rhode Island Supreme Court, says he wouldn't want his sight restored even if it were possible for medical science to do so. He told an audience Tuesday night that he is happy and satisfied with life. "I wouldn't want to learn over again the faces of my wife, children, grandchildren, neighbors and associates," said Judge Powers, who has been blind since 1927.

Hoffa Denies Charges Of Union Corruption

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa says the more than 1½ million members of his Teamsters Union are no better or worse than any other large section of the American population. Denying that the union is corrupt, Hoffa told a news conference Tuesday that, as far as he was concerned, his past testimony had answered all corruption charges made in hearings of the special Senate committee investigating labor-management relations. The committee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), plans to recall Hoffa. Hoffa, president of the union, also said he planned to take no action against Vice President John O'Rourke, indicted in New York in connection with jukebox rackets.

AILING LONG COMMITTED TO HOSPITAL

By JIM ROWMAN
GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—A judge committed ailing Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana to a hospital Tuesday "for his protection and that of others." He acted at the request of Mrs. Long. Mrs. Long's petition said the governor "is exhausted, overworked and ill both mentally and physically" and requires observation and treatment in a mental hospital for 90 days. Dr. Arthur Long of Baton Rouge, La., a cousin, also signed the petition filed with Probate Court Judge Hugh Gibson. Dr. Titus Harris, chief psychiatrist at John Sealy Hospital, where Long, 65, has been a patient since Saturday, told the judge the governor is mentally ill and likely to cause injury to himself and others. Long came to Galveston after a tantrum on the floor of the Louisiana Legislature last week. Physicians said he entered the hospital voluntarily but has refused to answer psychiatrists' questions. Texas law permits a doctor to hold a patient 96 hours after the patient demands release. Judge Gibson's order will be in effect until a formal hearing to determine if Long is mentally ill and if he should be hospitalized. The hearing must be held within 14 days. The law permits Long to attend the hearing with his own attorneys and ask for a jury trial. Deputy Sheriff Garland Leslie, who served the custody papers, said Long mistook him for a Texas Ranger. He quoted him: "Well, I'll be damned. Here is a Texas Ranger. At least I know the law is on my side. Sit down and let me talk to you, Ranger." Leslie said Long did not seem surprised when he told him he had some papers for him. He asked if he would have a hearing and when it would be. Leslie replied the hearing date had not been set.

Hopeful Word Is Received From Steel Meetings

NEW YORK (AP)—Word of hope that there will be no steel strike July 1 came from Washington as contract negotiations in the basic steel industry continue here. Four-man teams representing the nation's 12 largest steel companies and the United Steelworkers of America are trying to work out a new contract to replace the three-year pact that expires June 30. If no agreement is reached by then, 500,000 union members would almost certainly strike at plants that produce 90 per cent of the nation's steel. The word from Washington was that the Eisenhower administration believes there is an excellent chance that the union and the industry can reach agreement on a new contract without a July 1 strike. The climate built up by President Eisenhower's repeated appeals to both the steel industry and the union to realize their public responsibilities augurs well for a peaceful settlement, a high administration source said Tuesday.

Report of Red "Gold Ruble" Is Laughed Off

By JOHN SCALI
WASHINGTON (AP)—Top officials laughed off today rumors the Soviet Union might jolt Western trading countries by suddenly announcing a "gold ruble." Such rumors have been flying through European money markets. Most versions of the rumor say the Kremlin soon will decree that rubles—now artificially pegged at four to the dollar—will become freely convertible into gold on demand, at least in the satellite empire. The U.S.S.R. has a big horde of nine billion dollars in gold which could meet any run on gold which might develop, according to these reports.

Atmosphere In Managua Still Tense

By JACK RUTLEDGE
MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—President Luis Somoza marshaled his forces today to meet three boatloads of invaders reported en route from Cuba to join in Latin America's latest vestpocket revolt. Somoza ordered his ambassador in Washington, Guillermo Sevilla-Sacasa, to ask the Organization of American States for an investigation of the threat to his regime, one of Latin America's last three dictatorships. The Foreign Ministry said Tuesday night it had learned that three schooners carrying revolutionaries and arms set out from Cuba for Nicaragua to support 75 or more rebels who landed by plane from Costa Rica over the weekend. The government claimed it had that group on the run. Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, asked in Havana about the report of invasion from his country, said he was too busy to answer "baseless charges." Once a fiery advocate of aid to rebels against dictatorship, Castro has been denying he is aiding such movements since a Cuban-backed invasion of Panama backfired in April while the Cuban leader was trying to make friends in the United States. Managua is calm, but troops on guard everywhere lend a tense atmosphere to the capital.

Police Inspector Again Before Fed. Grand Jury

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Albert Jones, Pittsburgh police inspector, says a federal grand jury investigating rackets in western Pennsylvania "wanted to know about rumors" when he testified. "I told them when you're in the department for 50 years you hear a lot of rumors," Jones said to newsmen after leaving the jury room Tuesday. He appeared for about five minutes. It was the fifth time Jones had appeared before an investigating grand jury.

Annapolis Grads Are Addressed by Naval Secretary

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The new secretary of the Navy today addressed this year's Naval Academy graduates that as officers they should promote the policies of their service but play down inter-service rivalry. William B. Franke, whose nomination as secretary was confirmed Tuesday by the Senate, was principal speaker at graduation ceremonies. In his prepared text, Franke told the midshipmen that competition in schools, in effort for promotion, in ship against ship—is "right and proper." The color parade, customarily a spectacular high point in the June Week doings, was rained out for the first time Tuesday. Several thousand spectators jammed into Dahlgren Hall for an indoor ceremony which substituted for the usual display on Worden Field. Miss Graham, a pretty Penn State coed from Bloomington, Ill., was chosen color girl by Midshipman Douglas Volgenau of Clarence, N. Y.

DEMOCRATS FALL SHORT IN THEIR OWN RANKS TO BACK GOVERNOR'S BUDGET

HARRISBURG (AP)—House Republicans, insisting that the budget must be cut first, sent 115 million dollars of Gov. Lawrence's tax proposals down to defeat Tuesday night. "We're not going to change our position on taxes until we know where we stand on the budget," Rep. Albert W. Johnson, House Republican floor leader said today. "That will be about another two weeks." Democrats fell short as well in their own ranks in their losing effort to pass: Extension of the 3½ per cent sales tax to retail purchases at liquor stores and from beer distributors 99-111. A six-mill personal property tax on such intangible goods as stocks and bonds 104-101. Increase the six-mill bank share tax to 10 mills 104-101.

President Denies Interference in USW Wage Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today it is completely untrue that he has intervened in favor of the steel companies in their wage dispute with organized labor. Eisenhower was asked at his news conference to reply to a charge by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers that the President has moved to favor management in the steel wage negotiations now going on. Eisenhower replied vigorously that this charge is completely untrue. He said he recalled that he had urged both sides in the steel dispute to exercise discipline or the country would be in a bad fix. The President said he doesn't want to see the wage-price spiral continue and has urged management to keep its prices down. He would be delighted if prices could be reduced, Eisenhower added. As far as favoring management is concerned, the President said he has very little interest in the relative few among the management. (Turn to Page Twenty-two)

Sheriff is Slain Investigating a Family Argument

TAYLORSVILLE, N.C. (AP)—"The sheriff and I walked through the back door into the hall and started upstairs. A little more than halfway up I heard a shot. 'The sheriff turned and fell into me. The only thing he said, was, 'Oh Lord, I'm shot'." That was the way Deputy Sheriff Joe James described the slaying Tuesday of Sheriff Thomas E. Bebbler, 53. The officers had gone to the home of Jones Ellis to investigate a family argument. They were starting upstairs to talk to Ellis' son, Willard, 38, when the sheriff was hit in the back by a .22 caliber bullet. Jones Ellis had complained that his son was throwing rocks at the house, and had telephoned the sheriff's office for help. Willard barricaded himself upstairs after the shooting. A neighbor, R. Z. Matheson, finally persuaded him to surrender.

Ship Bringing Imports From Europe to Erie

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—The German ship, Clio, is expected to sail through the St. Lawrence Seaway Thursday and become the first ship to bring imports from Europe to the Port of Erie. The ship will drop off 500 cases of beer, Joseph Martin, administrator of the Port of Erie Commission said Tuesday. The French freighter, Ville de Quebec, is the only other sea-going ship to have docked at the new seaport. This ship picked up a cargo of oil drums bound for Europe May 19.

Scientists Still Have Baker For Study After Space Trip

By GEOFFREY GOULD
WASHINGTON (AP)—Baker made it. Able didn't. The two monkeys rode 300 miles into space in a Jupiter rocket and came back without a scratch. Baker, a tiny one-pound squirrel monkey, survived easily Tuesday an operation to remove the electrodes that had been planted under the skins of both for the trip. No anesthetic was used. None was considered necessary for the smaller simian. But when Able, a seven-pound Rhesus monkey, was placed under an anesthetic for a similar operation Monday night, her heart went into a spasmodic vibration. For more than two hours, doctors did everything humanly possible to get the heart beating again. One even placed his mouth over the monkey's and breathed into her lungs. It was no use. Baker had no trouble at all when Navy scientists at Pensacola, Fla., removed two of the four electrodes from her Tuesday night. They snipped them out in a couple of minutes. The two other electrodes, put in as spares, will be taken out later. Baker showed no sign of pain and was as frisky as ever. It was not even necessary to bandage the places where the tiny wire coils were taken out of her chest and under an arm. The electrodes had sent back important records of heartbeat, respiration and body temperature during the monkeys' pioneering flight last week from Cape Canaveral, Fla. The data has an important bearing on future space flights of human astronauts.

Pennsylvania Retains All Historic P. N. G. Regiments

HARRISBURG—Adoption of a new "Combat Arms Regimental System" by the United States Army will enable Pennsylvania to retain all its historic National Guard regiments. It had appeared at first, the Department of Military Affairs stated, "that the 'Pentomic' reorganization, due to take effect June 1, would be the end of the old regiments. This was because the regiments, with one exception, will no longer be tactical, or battlefield, echelon of command. They have been replaced by 'battle groups' in the Infantry and by battalions in the Armored Cavalry forces will continue to operate as a regiment in the old sense of the term."

Adoption of the new system will make it possible for the 109th, 110th, 111th and 112th Infantry regiments of the Soranton, Washington, Philadelphia and Erie areas to be represented by one or more battle groups in the 28th Infantry Division.

The oldest regiment in the Pennsylvania National Guard is the 11th Infantry of Philadelphia, with continuous service from its founding by Benjamin Franklin in 1747 to the present. Another historic unit, the First Troop Philadelphia Cavalry, will become Troop A of the First Reconnaissance Squadron, 103d Cavalry. The First City Troop was organized in 1774.

The 107th, 108th, 166th and 109th Field Artillery battalions of Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Wilkes-Barre will return to regimental status and will be represented by one or more battalions in the 28th Division. Several other historic units, such as the 213th "First Defenders" of Allentown, Bethlehem and Easton, dating from 1794, will also be retained.

The 104th Armored Cavalry Regiment of Central Pennsylvania, with a heritage from the Civil War and both World Wars, will be the only regiment in the State to retain tactical status.

One or more of the Pennsylvania regiments has served in combat in every major war from the Colonial Wars to Korea.

Plans are being made to establish museums for all the "parent regiments in or near their home armories."

Official Decides Blue Cross Rate Boost Justified

By JAC KLYNCH
HARRISBURG (AP)—State Insurance Commissioner Francis R. Smith agrees that Blue Cross hospital insurance plans in Pennsylvania need an increase in rates to survive.

The only question is how much. Four of the state's five major Blue Cross plans are seeking rate increases averaging 30 per cent a year.

"We have two choices," Smith said Tuesday night. "Either we grant them some relief or we watch the Blue Cross plans go out of business."

He made the statement at an unprecedented night session of public hearings into the requests for higher rates. The hearings opened Tuesday.

Smith "deplored" the necessity for holding the hearings on short notice, but said the insurance organizations asked for a decision by June 15. He explained that the increases are proposed to become effective Aug. 1 and that 40 days are required to carry out rate adjustments.

The heads of both the Capital Hospital Service (Central Pennsylvania) and the Associated Hospital Service of Philadelphia testified that they were constantly losing money and reserve funds would be virtually exhausted by Aug. 1.

Also seeking boosts are the Hospital Service Assn. of Western Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, and the Associated Hospital Service of Northeastern Pennsylvania, Wilkes-Barre. Representatives of these groups have not testified.

At the opening session, the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor and the Pennsylvania CIO Council asked for a delay in the hearings, then withdrew the proposal in the face of stiff Blue Cross opposition.

Co. Motor Club Tops Class "B" Division

The Monthly Membership Bulletin of the AAA Pennsylvania Motor Federation indicates that the Warren County Motor Club was among 27 clubs throughout the state to be honored by receiving the membership achievement plaque of the American Automobile Association. The local organization, with two others, was recognized for outstanding attainment in membership and has set the pace for other Pennsylvania clubs to emulate. This was for 1958 activities.

As of May 1, 1959, the Warren County Motor Club has gotten off to a flying start for a new record, placing at the top of the Class B clubs with a total of 4084 participating members. In order to achieve Class A standing, the club must realize 5000 members, so it appears that such goal could be reached once 900 additional members are secured. Such a record can take a long time to accomplish and it has been "a long climb". Motor Club officials, however, continue concentrated efforts to build an increasingly larger, progressive organization here.

History of Telephone

In Warren
By
ROBERT E. ANSTADT
Manager

The Bell Telephone Co. of Penna.

Bob Anstadt

When Captain Blenville de Celeron with his company of French and Indians passed down the Conewango to the Allegheny in 1749 and landed on the south bank of the latter stream, there was already an Indian village at the mouth of the Conewango. During more than two centuries since then, the Indian tepees have become luxurious modern homes, the gliding canoes have been supplanted by the train and automobile, and the smoke signals of the Indian have developed into the familiar telephone with their voice highways to every building and city in the land.

Warren played its part in the early development of the telephone business and may be justly proud of its share and influence in one of the most tremendous accomplishments of all ages.

Among the small number of wide awake young men who saw far more than an amazing toy in Alexander Graham Bell's invention in 1876, was James W. Stearns of Warren, who was at that time operator and manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company's office. In fact, he was so impressed with what he read about the telephone and with the statements of some of his friends that it would in short time supplant the telegraph, that he decided to get into this new business immediately.

In the summer of 1878 Mr. Stearns rented two telephone instruments from the Bell Telephone Company and strung the first telephone line in this part of the state from the Western Union Office on Second Street next to the Warren Savings Bank & Trust Company to his home at Second Avenue near East Street, four blocks away. These original instruments were hand receivers, placed to the lips for talking and then to the ear for listening, and the rental he paid for each was $10.00 per year. When a transmitter was developed later, he rented these from the Bell Company for $10.00 each, also.

Then Mr. Stearns began stringing wires over the house tops for other telephones, but when he had connected about twenty-five in this way he was summoned to appear before Burges H. A. Jamieson and the Borough Council. In his boyish manner he explained the great future of the telephone and the benefits to the public. He was not taken very seriously but was anxious to prove his statements and guaranteed to have one hundred telephones connected in Warren within a year's time if granted a permit to set poles on all streets of the town under the supervision of the Burgess or his delegate. The document was drawn up and signed and this original franchise was in existence for a great many years. The Burgess humorously related years afterward that he was so hounded by persons about these poles and the trimming of trees that he was finally forced to resign.

In order to attract attention to the telephone and thus secure additional subscribers, Mr. Stearns arranged with the telegraph operator at Dunkirk, N. Y., that each would connect a telephone to the telegraph line which traversed the poles of the Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley & Pittsburgh Railroad, and advertised that on a certain evening the public would be invited to attend a demonstration of long distance telephony.

Pennsylvania Outdoors...

Prepared by Pennsylvania Game Commission

Program Saves Wildlife
Much wild game will be saved as a side effect of a program being pursued by Dog Law Division of Pennsylvania Dept. of Agriculture. Crews of the Division's enforcement agents are methodically covering the Commonwealth, county by county, to license all dogs owned and to dispose of homeless canines discovered.

Such a campaign not only brings about a flood of license tag buying, it calls dog owners' attention to the legal requirement that dogs be tied, penned or kept under close control. When unwanted, hungry, free-running dogs are eliminated and pets and hunters are restricted to home grounds farmers' also receive needed protection. Following Agriculture Dept. record of livestock and poultry killed by dogs in Pennsylvania, and reported, during 1958 gives evidence of the extent of damage done by roving dogs: 1,480 sheep, 8,374 chickens, 208 ducks, 315 turkeys, 26 geese, 8 hogs, 24 cattle, 31 goats, 171 domesticated rabbits, 90 domesticated pheasants.

Hunters and wildlife management people realize that protecting wild game brood stock, and nests of eggs or young, in spring and summer gives promise that the game bird and animal populations will be higher than they would have been when the hunting season arrives.

Optimistic Report
"I'm almost convinced deer are migrating into eastern Perry County," says Game Protector Harold Russell. "Right now there seem to be as many as last fall before the antlerless deer season. Ringnecks, quail, wild turkeys and even rabbits appear more plentiful than previously. A large number of rabbits, and some ringnecks are being killed on roads."

Much the same view has been voiced by other Game Protectors.

Losses Hurt Fall Hunt
Wild and domestic predators and farm machines are responsible for the loss of a large number of ringneck pheasants.

sylvania Fish Wardens assist Game Protectors with their enforcement duties. It's trade about when the wildlife officers can help with the enforcement duties of the sister agency. Early this year Game Commission officers engaged in a number of important cases while assisting Fish Wardens. The following incidents briefly tell something of the bag of tricks the cheaters employ:

On April 18 Game Protector David Titus and a deputy apprehended an Erie City man, fishing in season on Bobbs Creek, Warren County while in possession of 38 trout, 28 of them shorter than the six-inch legal length, and 32 trout over the limit. Fish Warden Corey was the prosecutor in this instance. The case was settled for $600 on a field acknowledgment of guilt form.

During the evening of February 10 Steve Banks, a State Police sergeant and Edward Richards, a Game Protector patrolled outlying Forest County areas in a police car, seeing persons who had been breaking into camps. The county sheriff, Yale Wilson, alerted the officers by radio to be on the lookout for two Tionesta men who were prime suspects. Late that night Banks and Richards located and stopped two men who rode in a pick-up truck. In the truck was a 50-gallon drum containing water, also 84 brook trout, also a 43 by 43 inch hand seine.

Fish Warden Norman Blum was called to the State Police barracks at Tionesta, where the culprits were being held. In the early morning hours of the 11th a local justice of the peace adjudged each of the defendants guilty of possessing trout out of season. He fined each of them $840, plus $9 costs of prosecution. The men were committed to jail in default of the fine and costs.

There have been many more interesting cases in which officers of the two Commissions were successful, early this year, in saving trout for the honest fisherman, and at least caused those who flaunted the law to contribute to the fund for fish management in the Commonwealth. The quoted incidents are enough to show, also, why it is often said the protectors of the true sportsman's outdoor pleasures lead an interesting and varied life.

RANDOLPH DAYS IN WARREN
As dial operation RAndolph becomes effective throughout the borough of Warren June 7, a milestone of community history will be marked as Bell Telephone patrons begin to enjoy the benefits of the new system of communication.

To highlight the big occasion the Retail Division of the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce precede it with a three day event which begins tomorrow in 60 participating stores. Small gifts will be distributed to all customers Thursday, Friday and Saturday and the public will also enjoy the opportunity to receive a most valuable gift by completing a registration slip in any of the co-operating merchants.

Drawing for ten grand awards will take place June 8 at the Chamber office. Even the schools take part in the Randolph Days celebration, with an essay contest sponsored for 4th, 5th and 6th graders only.

Students are to write in 100 words or less... "My daddy should drive more carefully because...etc. Essays may be deposited at any participating store, judging to follow next week, and interesting prizes awarded.

The Bell Telephone Company in cooperation with several merchants in the business district will display the latest telephone equipment in various windows and a demonstration of equipment is also planned. New phone books are being distributed at the present time — new dial number inserts are being received and all lines are being tested to assure the public's understanding of the new dial system of telephoning.

Needless to say, there's many a pleasant voice of an operator that will be missed in the day's work.

Which all leads up to the fact that this issue of the Times-Mirror is filled with advertisements wherein local retailers offer reasonable merchandise at money-saving values this weekend in observance of RAndolph Days in Warren!

On such a beautiful day in June it is interesting to recall that it was 207 years ago today that Benjamin Franklin drew lightning from the clouds with a kite—June 3, 1752!

WORLD TODAY
By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The upcoming Senate fight over President Eisenhower's choice of Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce will dwarf any fight of its kind in years. It may last weeks.

Strauss, former banker and adviser to the Rockefellers, is in for a monumental reeling over.

The President let it be known Tuesday he not only wouldn't pull back his nomination of Strauss as head of the Commerce Department and member of his Cabinet but wouldn't withdraw it even if Strauss requested it.

Many but not all of the Democratic senators are against Strauss. He piled up enemies among them when he was chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. So far as is known all Republicans except one—Sen. William Langer of North Dakota—are for him.

Strauss' performance while he headed the AEC—from 1953 until his term was up in 1958—is at the root of his trouble. But his attitude toward Congress—or what Democrats dislike about his attitude—helped dig a grave the Democrats are trying to bury him in.

Here are some of the things they said about him: he was too secretive and domineering; he took a god-like credit for development of the H-bomb; there was a "pattern of deviousness and deceit" in his testimony before the Senate Commerce Committee; he lied to the committee; he deliberately withheld information from Congress; he suppressed vital facts about detecting atomic blasts; he made oblique answers to charges against him.

Strauss said some of the witnesses at the committee hearings lied about him; he promised he would never keep information from Congress for political reasons; he admitted the AEC had made some mistakes while he was a member of it; but he denied creating any myths about himself.

One of his Democratic foes—Sen. Warren G. Magnuson of Washington—said: "Strauss creates controversy wherever he goes, and with half of the Senate feeling uneasy about him, I don't see how he could do a competent job as secretary of commerce."

Republicans have cried politics about the Democrats' savage attacks on him. Sen. Hugh Scott, Pennsylvania Republican, accused the Democrats of a "nit-picking expedition — travels through the territory of trivia."

Strauss had the backing not only of Eisenhower but of former President Herbert Hoover. Some scientists with whom he had dealings in his AEC days were for him, some against him.

Strauss has been serving temporarily as secretary of commerce since last October. But if he is to remain in the office, the Senate must approve his nomination.

The first step was for the Commerce Committee to hold hearings on his qualifications. This normally is routine.

Not this time. The committee delayed hearings and didn't start till March 17. It didn't finish up till May 19 when Strauss got approval by the skin-tight margin of 98.

The Senate still must act. That is where his foes say they will make their big fight. Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) even threatens a filibuster to block approval.

Here and There

If you spend much time outdoors, Blaine Schlosser, assistant county agent, suggests you learn to recognize snakes as you do other wildlife. Most snakes you see are harmless, but a few are poisonous. To play safe don't capture or handle snakes unless you are certain you know the difference. Respect poisonous snakes for their venomous bite; and respect harmless ones as interesting, useful, and beneficial citizens of woods and fields. To help you recognize the common snakes of the State, a color circular called "Some Pennsylvania Snakes" is available from the Agricultural Extension Office, Courthouse Annex, Phone 2561.

We're indebted to our old friend and former associate on the Evening Times of forty years ago, Roy Bell, 16B Crescent Park, Greenbelt, Md., for a couple of copies of an illustrated tabloid insert to the May 26 issue of The Washington Star entitled "Building for the Future," printed in connection with the fact that the Capital newspaper has just moved into a new, modern building in Southeast Washington. The former home of the Star was at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Eleventh street, N. W., occupied for more than a century. A touch of the long history is reviewed in pictures, on the back cover. It is interesting to note, for the information of area readers planning a trip to Washington, that the new Star Building is open to visitors with escorted tours being conducted regularly from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m., Monday through Saturday. Subjects covered in the book in pictures include "The Star of Today"; "The New Look: Color"; "In The Newsroom"; "The Advertising Scene"; "Where the Words Go in Type"; "Press Room"; "Mailing Rooms"; "How The Star is Spent to You"; "The Newsprint"; "Bosser, Men and Departments"; "From Artist to Engraver." The Star was founded in 1852 by Capt. Joseph B. Tate.

This is a little belated, but nevertheless may come as a bit of news to some readers of the column—Oil Centennial Inc., has announced it has hired our own Jack Barr, as director of the Parade of Oil to be held in Tusculum Saturday, August 29. We can attest to the fact that folks over in the Queen City have made an excellent choice, because of our parade associations with Barr down through the years, since the Independence Day celebration was turned over to the Jaycees by the Citizens' Committee back around 1946 or 47. Barr, who is employed in the production control department of the Weld Plant of Sylvania Parts Division, not only has been taking a leading part in Jaycee Parade, but has been active in the Chief Cornplanter Drum and Bugle Corps. You can depend upon it, with Barr in charge, the Centennial Parade will be a bang-up one—and it'll start on time.

June, that favorite month of songwriters and brides, is also a relatively carefree one for homeowners if they have been spending one or two days a month all the year around performing home inspection and minor repair chores. W. D. Herbert, a home improvement specialist for Allied Chemical's Barrett Division, says a single morning or afternoon's work spent taking care of exterior touch-up needs is usually all that's required in June. This allows more time for the hammock, golf or whatever your form of early summer relaxation might be. Herbert advises the homeowner to repair chinks in a home's exterior armor to prevent damage or discoloration during summer's heavy rains. For example: Replace loose putty on windows, removing old putty first and painting to match trim. Coat discolored or rusted shutter clips with a metal paint. Check for loose, warped or decayed siding. If your walls are finished in stucco, fill in cracks with putty and apply stucco touch-up paint or damp-proof coating. Replace loose or split shingles. Have a roofer replace worn flashing or coat with a bituminous paint or plastic cement. A good product to have around the house, according to Herbert is plastic cement. It can be used to coat flashing, waterproof gutters, seal down shingle tabs, fill joints between concrete and brick and even protect tree wounds from insect attack. For the ambitious home handyman thinking of tackling a major do-it-yourself project during June, Herbert says this is a good month for building that extra room. Although the framework, exterior walls and roof are best left to a professional, interior finishing can be done by the do-it-yourselfer. Materials like decorative ceiling tiles, factory painted fibreboard wall planks and easy-to-install floor tiles are ideal for the home handyman, according to Herbert.

U.S. Sugar Men Holding Their Breaths in Cuba

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—U.S. sugar companies operating in Cuba must soon report to their stockholders on the outlook under Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's land reform law.

The prospect is not good. Some of the more pessimistic U.S. sugar men fear the loss of most of their half-billion-dollar Cuban investment. It represents more than 120 million dollars in land at last year's prices plus an estimated 330 million in factories, docks, roads, transport and farm machinery.

The land itself, which may be Castro's first target, totals about 1,800,000 acres. This is roughly a third of all Cuban land in sugar production, the other two-thirds being owned by Cubans.

American-owned companies produce about a third of Cuba's sugar. This year's crop, now just about off, is expected to total 5,800,000 tons.

THERE ARE A FEW other Cuban companies in which American interests hold minority stock. Since the end of World War II a dozen U.S. mills have been sold to Cubans and there are two other centrals in which Cubans own stock. So there has been a slow trend to greater Cuban ownership. Each central represents an investment of from 10 to 15 million dollars.

If Cuban Prime Minister Castro's revolutionary agrarian reform program starts breaking up these properties, U.S. sugar men operating in Cuba believe it will have disastrous effects on all Latin America.

Its first effect would be to stop further American private investment in Cuba, though when Castro was in Washington in April he said he wanted more U.S. investment.

There are confidential reports that plans to invest from 125 to 150 million U.S. dollars in new Cuban enterprises have already been abandoned.

The inference here is that there will be other capital investment pullbacks throughout Latin America. They will come just when the U.S. government is trying to persuade private capital to make bigger foreign investments.

THE HALF-BILLION dollar total U.S. investment in Cuban sugar represents about a half of all American investments on the island today. Other American-owned properties—likewise subject to expropriation—include electric and power and telephone companies, mining and manufacturing industries, hotels and other concessions.

The effect which sugar property seizure alone would have on the island economy would be far-reaching.

Cuba is selling about three million tons of sugar to the U.S. this year. This is about a third of U.S. consumption, but about a half of total Cuban production.

Cuba needs these dollar sales to buy essential imports from the U.S. But there will be no incentive to cultivate a 1960 crop as long as the danger of land expropriation exists.

Off the record—because they are not ready yet to say this formally to their stockholders—sugar men think their only salvation is in some kind of U.S. economic sanction applied against Castro now to bring him to terms.

There have been some top-level planning conferences on this topic in Washington—but no course of action has been decided on. It is a decidedly ticklish situation.

Radio and TV

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—As Rudyard Kipling celebrated British Empire Indian, James A. Michener has taken the western Pacific for his special province of fiction and fact.

Now the Pulitzer Prize-winning novelist is writing an adventure drama television series called "Adventures in Paradise" which will reach the home audience via ABC-TV beginning next September.

The filmed hour-long weekly dramas, to be produced by Martin Mannus, concern the adventures of a young American sailing his schooner in the South Seas and along the Asian coast.

"My craft is to write stories," he said. "The chances of my suddenly becoming an extraordinary television craftsman are very remote. I've had good luck with dramatics, but my work has been adapted by others."

Everyone knows, of course, what happened to the musical "South Pacific," based on his Pulitzer Prize-winning "Tales of the South Pacific." Three other books of his have been movie successes — "Return to Paradise," "The Bridges of Toko-Ri" and "Sayonara."

So it's interesting to hear Michener say, "I have serious doubts that I could make a living solely by writing books. Actually I've never had a really top best-seller."

What he meant was that the big money to a novelist these days comes from movies, the theater, television, foreign rights and reprints.

Michener continues to travel widely in the Pacific. He just came back from Southeast Asia and the South Seas gathering material for "Adventures in Paradise" and may return soon. When working at his home in Bucks County, Pa., he writes from 7:30 in the morning until noon.

How to Keep Well
By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen
(© 1958: By The Chicago Tribune)

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

LOSS OF SPEECH FROM CANCER
Hoarseness is a symptom rather than a disease. When it lasts longer than 10 days to three weeks, examination must be made to determine the cause. Infection and vocal strain are the most likely origins. But it is smart to play safe because cancer of the larynx always is an outside contender.

The vocal cords cannot be seen by the ordinary type of examination in which the patient says "ah" as the physician looks into the mouth. Most specialists utilize a head mirror or lamp to reflect light into the throat. A small round mirror is placed in the back of the patient's throat so the examiner can see around the bend at the base of the tongue.

The tongue is held forward to keep it out of the way. When the stage is set and the voice box is in view, the individual is asked to say "e." This letter has been chosen because it opens the throat, allowing the physician to see the vocal cords. It is painless and no anesthetic is needed.

A more detailed study can be made with the laryngoscope, if an abnormality is noted. This instrument consists of a tube with a handle and eyepiece at one end and a light at the other. It is possible to see the interior of the larynx when the device is inserted gently into the back of the throat.

Cancer of the larynx is easy to treat when detected early. At this stage, removal of the voice box (laryngectomy) is not necessary and speech is retained. Radium, for example, may be used to destroy the lesion without damaging the vocal cords.

Malignancies never stop growing and the longer the victim waits the larger the cancer becomes. In time it may be necessary to sacrifice the voice to save the life of the victim. This means removal of the larynx and the glands in the neck. Following recovery, the individual must learn to use one of the artificial devices so he can speak.

The latest is an electrostatic speaker attached to a dental prosthesis. It is a hearing aid in reverse. An ingenious operation may be suggested to reconstruct a second mechanism to help in talking.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by letter if a stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: Childhood nephrosis.

BACKACHE IN OLDSTER.
M.S.S. writes: Is it harmful to use an electric pad on a 79 year old woman's back? She has slight arthritis of the spine and heat seems to relieve it a little.

REPLY
No, but avoid burning. I assume X-rays have been taken and that you are certain of the diagnosis. Osteoporosis is another common cause of backache in oldsters and dramatic improvement often follows the use of certain hormones.

HAIR COLDS
Mrs. D. writes: Can a person catch cold in the roots of the hair?

REPLY
No. A "cold in the head" does not reach the roots of the hair; it prefers the mucous membranes of the nose and throat. Of course, I may be wrong, but I won't believe it until the hair sneezes.

W. L. writes: Is an asthmatic heart serious?

REPLY
Yes, if you refer to the type of heart disease that occurs in an individual who has been bothered for years with asthma.

SALT AND HYPERTENSION
Mrs. M. writes: Why can't you have salt with high blood pressure?

REPLY
Because the sodium in salt aggravates the condition.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board is trying to see that the current business recovery doesn't turn into an inflationary boom like the one that followed the 1953-54 recession.

In the role it's assuming, as guardian of the purchasing power of your dollar, the FRB has two big hurdles ahead.

One is the growing belief that a boom is in the making and more inflation likely. The other is congressional fears that the board's policies might halt or reverse the recovery.

The board has started to tighten the money supply much sooner than it did after the other recession, remembering that the boom got a head start on it last time.

The board has three weapons—the discount rate, the purchase or sale of U.S. securities, and the reserve requirements for member banks. The big question now is whether they're strong enough to pull off the trick.

It has used the first two so far. It has hiked the discount rate (which is what member banks must pay to borrow from reserve banks). It has entered the securities market with caution. It has had to keep money easy enough to let the U.S. Treasury borrow to meet its deficit. At the same time the board is trying to keep the banks' supply of lendable funds under control. It isn't easy to do both.

The two moves have helped a trend already under way from other sources — interest rates have risen. But the moves have had little effect on business confidence.

Demand for funds is rising, despite the steady climb in the costs of borrowing. Larger corporations tend to shrug off rising interest rates. They can charge them off as operating expenses. Thus the Treasury foots half the bill, since the big corporations pay 52 per cent income taxes.

When the board sells government securities, the money for them comes out of bank deposits or out of money in circulation. The result is to cut the amount of funds the banks can lend. So interest rates go up. And credit is harder to find.

Often this hits the smaller business firms first, since the big ones, as the banks' best customers, usually are accommodated.

Why does the board fear an inflationary boom? Speculative psychology in Wall Street and Main Street is a big reason.

Others are: The demand for business loans has risen; corporations are revising their spending plans upward; demand for mortgage funds is rising; Americans in April took on more new installment debt than in any other month on record; the U.S. Treasury will borrow at least six billion dollars more before the end of the year; state and local authorities are seeking more funds; wages and other income are rising and consumers are in more of a spending mood.

MRS. J. CLYDE JOHNSON

Ruth Anne Scott, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Scott of Sugar Grove, became the bride of J. Clyde Johnson, son of Mrs. W. A. Johnson of Lottsville and the late Mr. Johnson, May 29 in Sugar Grove Methodist church.

The double ring service was performed at 8:00 p. m. by the Rev. John H. Clark, of Cherry Creek Methodist church, assisted by Pastor Alvin Rhodes. Altar candelabra, palms, baskets of white gladioli and pom poms formed a beautiful setting for the candlelight ceremony. Mrs. Russell M. Clark, Corry, was at the organ for traditional music; Mr. Clark sang "The Lord's Prayer," "At Dawning" and "O Perfect Love."

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore floor length Florentine chantilly-type lace over taffeta, fashioned with long sleeves, and scalloped neckline forming a vee in the back. A lace cap held her fingertip veil of French illusion, her pearl necklace was the bridegroom's gift, and a white Bible with white rose marker completed her ensemble.

As matron of honor for her cousin, Mrs. Wendall Warner wore waltz length yellow crystal, with matching headpiece and nose veil, and carried white carnations with mint green streamers. Junior bridesmaid was Deborah Morgan in yellow nylon sheer over taffeta bridesmaids, Phyllis Curry of Bear Lake and Mrs. Bruce Airsman, Jamestown, in similar gowns of mint green. Each wore short white gloves, and the bride's gift of pearl necklaces and ear-rings.

Dr. Brook Powell, Rochester, N. Y., was best man for his brother-in-law; ushering were Richard Baker, Lottsville, and Lee McVey, Philadelphia, a classmate of Mr. Johnson.

Mrs. Scott was gown in Dior blue nylon lace with white accents; Mrs. Johnson, in blue cupion silk, with navy accessories. Each had a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott, Lottsville, were master and mistress of ceremonies for the reception for 250 guests in the church parlors; Carol Johnson managed the guest book. Mrs. George Morrison, Panama, served the four-tier cake at a table centered with pink carnations and white pom poms.

Presiding at the punch bowl was Karen Reagle; Mrs. Walter Warner and Mrs. Melvin Johnson, aunts of the couple, poured; other aides were Mrs. Clifford Storms, Mrs. Paul Reagle, Mrs. Robert Morgan, Mrs. Burt Schoonover, Mrs. Harry Sarvis, Mrs. Leroy Stoddard, Mrs. Robert Blake, Mrs. Keith Arzner and Nancy Schoonover. Aides were remembered with gifts from the bride and carnation corsages.

Out of town guests were from Cleveland and Warren, O.; Rochester, Buffalo, Greenwich, Cherry Creek, Niobe, Bemus Point, Lakewood, Ashville, Panama, Mayville, and Jamestown, N. Y.; Edwardsville, Mich.; Erie, New Castle, Grove City, Franklin, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Warren, Corry, Youngsville, Bear Lake, Lander, and Lottsville.

For the wedding trip, the bride selected a two piece beige dress, matching accessories and white rose corsage. After June 8, the couple will be at home at 4522 Springfield avenue, Philadelphia.

The bride was graduated from Northern Area High School in 1955 and has been employed on the Marin-Rockwell office staff in Jamestown. Mr. Johnson was graduated from Panama High School the same year and is a student at the veterinary school of Medicine, University of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia.

Mrs. W. A. Johnson entertained at a buffet at Penn-Laurel in Warren for the rehearsal party; others honoring the bride-elect have been fellow office workers; Methodist WSCS; Mrs. Stanley Erickson, Mrs. Keith Arzner, Mrs. Bruce Arisman, Jamestown; Mrs. George Morrison, Panama; Mrs. Wendell Warner, Phyllis Corry, Mrs. Walter Warner, Mrs. Robert Morgan, Mrs. F. A. Schoonover, Mrs. Burt Schoonover and daughter, Nancy, and Mrs. Harry Sarvis.

St. Joseph's School Commencement Plans

Eighth grade students of St. Joseph's School will hold graduation exercises at 7:00 p. m. Sunday in the church, followed by a reception in the school hall for parents and relatives.

A dance will be held at 9:00 p. m., with music provided by the Blue Knights from Kane. The graduating class has extended a special invitation to members of the seventh grade, and ninth graders are also welcome.

Mrs. Mary Tassone is chairman of the committee. Members of St. Joseph's Parent-Teacher Unit make this affair possible each year, as well as a breakfast in the morning for the graduates. Mrs. Mary Ochulzko is chairman of this latter committee.

Possibility of Big Atomic War Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was advised today it cannot afford to forget the possibility of a big atomic war.
 Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Tex.) sounded that note of caution as the House headed into two days of debate on a bill to provide $38,848,339,000 for the Defense Department for the year starting July 1. Mahon is chairman of the subcommittee which wrote the bill.
 The House starts considering amendments to the measure Wednesday. Major fights are in prospect over amendments to increase the size of the Army and the Marine Corps, to restore funds for a super aircraft carrier, and to change the amounts provided for missiles. The bill provides $399,861,000 less than President Eisenhower requested in new funds.

NEWS FROM COUNTY AGENT

Keep Good Pasture All Through Summer

Pasture is the most economical cow feed grown, says Blaine Schlosser, Asst. County Agent, and pasture will be at its peak in quality (as high as 70 per cent TDN) until about June 1. From June 1 on, the total digestible nutrients (TDN) content will decrease about 1/2 per cent per day until the forage reaches maturity. At maturity, most pasture forages contain no more than 40 to 50 per cent TDN, which is poor quality feed and must be supplemented with other feed to hold production.
 The dairyman who feeds early "spring quality" pasture all summer must do a little pasture management planning now. It will pay dividends at the milk pail and reduce food costs, which means more profit.

Ration grazing, or giving the herd just the amount of pasture they can consume each day, is recommended. Don't force the cows to eat the last coarse forage and weeds on each strip. It's profitable to allow the herd to just graze the lush part of the forage. Experience will tell you how large the daily grazing strip should be.

Grass silage is the safety valve. As soon as the pasture forage starts to mature (grasses start to head and legumes start to bloom) the pasture is ahead of your cows. When this happens, put the rest of the crop in the silo and start ration grazing all over again. Use the silage as pasture supplement when the cows get ahead of the second and third crops.

By this procedure the dairyman has early, "spring quality" pasture all summer.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — What would happen to the career of a teen-age singing idol if he got married?

"It'd kill me," says Frankie Avalon, latest of the rock 'n' roll sensations to invade the movies.

His manager, Bob Marcucci, agrees. "A big part of the appeal of pop singers today is the fact that they are single," says Marcucci, who also manages Fabian. "Every teen-age girl likes to believe that she could be Frankie's girl friend."

Frankie cited the example of Eddie Fisher, whose popularity nose-dived with the younger set after his marriage to Debbie Reynolds.

"The same thing would happen to Elvis Presley if he got married," the boy said.

There remains one glaring exception to the rule: Pat Boone.

"But he was already married and had kids before he became a star," Frankie argued.

The palpitating Avalon fans don't have to worry about him. He hasn't the slightest intention of getting married. Aside from the danger to his career, he doesn't have time for romance.

"I figure I've been home to Philadelphia about five or six days in the past three months," he said. "And when I'm there, I don't have much time for dating. I like to spend as much time as possible with my family."

Shed no tears for Frankie. He's leading the life he likes and making a mint as well. Besides his records—he's had five hits, including the 1½-million sellers "Venus"—he is breaking into the movies as an actor.

Sitting Down Seat of Most Man's Troubles, Expert Says

By PAT MCNULTY
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Man is nothing more than a mobile bag of fluids.

And when this mobile bag sits down—which is most of the time for many of us—well, that's the seat of man's troubles.

That's the opinion, anyway, of Dr. Laurence Morehouse, a UCLA professor who has developed a straight-backed, rotating rocking chair to help keep the fluids in motion.

Watching television, sitting in an office or driving a car can be just as dangerous as stalking lions in Africa, says Dr. Morehouse, who is the director of UCLA's human performance laboratory.

When man sits for a prolonged period, says Dr. Morehouse, the blood and other fluids collect in the lower extremities. The result, he says, can be swollen feet, fatigue, drowsiness, fainting, thrombosis or even death.

And it's even more dangerous, he said, for ladies who frequently sit for long periods wearing tight girdles.

Dr. Morehouse said that many auto accidents blamed on drivers' "blacking out," fatigue, dizziness or slowed coordination might very well be traced to impaired circulation.

A possible answer to the sitting man's problems, says Dr. Morehouse, is a self-aligning seat padded with sponge rubber which has been developed at the UCLA lab.

This chair supports the body's weight on the "seat bones" or tuberosities ("Sit on your hands and you'll feel them," said Dr. Morehouse).

The chair's soft springs yield to the sitter's weight and are in constant, though barely noticeable, motion.

Dr. Morehouse's chair is not on the market, so he offered these tips to chronic sitters: Make certain your legs are uncrossed and that the edge of the chair or tight clothing doesn't cut off circulation.

On auto trips, stop as often as possible and take a short walk. If traveling by train, bus or plane, get up frequently and pace the aisle; and

If you're an office worker, put your feet up on the desk occasionally—even if you're not the boss

COUNTY EXTENSION OFFICE NEWS

Sprays Control Flies on Cattle

Cattle are bothered by several species of flies and mosquitos. Elaine Schlosser, Asst. County Agent, warns these pesky insects often reduce milk production in dairy cows, and are partially responsible for poor weight gains in beef animals.

Methoxychlor 50 per cent wettable powder may be applied dry to all cattle. Sprinkle a heaping tablespoon of powder around the base of horns, on the neck and over the back. Rub the powder lightly into the hair. Do not use sprays made with methoxychlor on dairy animals producing milk. Methoxychlor applied dry is safe to use and gives effective control of horn flies and mosquitos.

Common oil-base fly sprays containing .05 to 0.1 per cent pyrethrins or .3 to 5 per cent organic thiocyanate are also widely used on dairy cattle. Many commercial fly sprays also contain an insect repellent which increases its effectiveness. These formulations are commonly used as mist sprays at the rate of 1 to 2 ounces per animal in daily applications. Aerosols and space sprays will also give satisfactory control of flies when properly used. Aerosols, containing at least 0.5 per cent pyrethrins plus 5 per cent synergist, are most satisfactory for killing flies.

Spray concentrates containing 1 per cent pyrethrins and 10 per cent synergist can also be used both for space spray and on animals. Such concentrate is usually diluted 1 to 19 with water for use in compressed air sprayers, and 1 to 9 for use in small electric fog generators.

Highway Tragedy Is Described by Injured Fireman

(Editors note: Walter Schwenk, 32, of Auburn, Pa., a fireman injured in the Schuylkill Haven, Pa. explosion gives his account of what happened from a hospital bed.)

By WALTER SCHWENK
As told to George Esper Associated Press Staffer (George Esper)

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — A farm house on Route 122 to load up children. The gas tanker stopped behind him. A Branch Transportation Co. truck hit the tanker in the back end and ignited it. The tanker burned for about 20 minutes.

Then there was the explosion. I was standing at a nozzle about 100 feet away helping fight the fire. The explosion was a big blast. All I saw was a big ball of flame. I saw the truck cab pass me by. The explosion blew the truck cab up the road about 500 feet past me.

When the explosion occurred I saw all kinds of colors. It happened so fast. Nobody had a chance to get away. It was terrible. I can thank God I'm here. The blast knocked me over against a tank. I knew it was an explosion. I was surrounded by flames. I ran across the street for help. Then I fell over. Then a couple of fellows and I walked up the road and saw those dead.

The explosion tore some of the bodies of the dead persons apart. Some of the pieces of the tanker hit the police car. It caught a man in between. There were pieces of flesh hanging on the police car.

The bodies were spread all over. Arms and legs were spread all over. There was no question that they were dead. It was terrible. All I saw was the pieces lying around. Then a friend brought me

BUSINESS BRIEFS

NEW YORK (AP) — The first atomic reactor fuel elements exported to a foreign country from Canada were shipped to Switzerland by AMF Atomics (Canada) Ltd., a subsidiary of American Machine & Foundry Co. Morehead Patterson, AMF board chairman, said Tuesday.

The uranium was mined in Canada, processed at the Port Hope refinery of Eldorado Mining & Refining Ltd. and fabricated at Port Hope, Ont., plant of AMF Atomics Ltd. The 290 uranium bars, valued at nearly $400,000, were shipped to the Diorit research reactor, near Zurich.

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. plans a multi-million-dollar expansion to double vinyl flooring and counter top production at the Goodyear Aircraft Corp. plant here. Renovation work already has started with April 1 as the completion date. About 100 new workers will be employed.

NEW YORK (AP)—Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. reported receiving a half million dollar army ordinance contract to explore uses of an advanced solid propellant for the Nike Zeus missile.

Questions and Answers About Warren Schools

Readers with questions concerning the schools are invited to mail them to School Editor, Times-Mirror. Names are not included when the questions are submitted to the school staff, which answers the inquiries as a community service.

Question: "Would it be possible for the schools to furnish reading lists now for our children's next year English classes? My children could use the lists this summer when they have plenty of time to read. Thank you."

Answer: "Yes. There are two excellent reading lists which will be posted at the Warren Public Library throughout the summer. These are for Eighth Grade through Twelfth. Another list of interest to Kindergarten through Fourth grade youngsters before they enter school next fall."

Question: "A substitute teacher at Warren High School comments that the discipline is much improved. As a result, she says it is easier for a teacher to give the boys and girls good lesson periods, since she is not distracted by behavior problems."

Answer: "We are always working toward the place where high school boys and girls accept responsibility for their own actions and do well because they know they are learning things important to them. I'm pleased to say that we have never had what could be called poor discipline, (although there have been incidents of misbehavior) and this good record is greatly due to the interest the parent takes in the work of the boys and girls—and the interest the community takes."

"When the parents talk about escapades they had in high school years ago they hinder us."

Question: "Please tell a little more about Mr. Mutsabaugh and Mr. Olson who will begin as Assistant Directors of Curriculum assigned to the grade schools next fall."

Answer: "Mr. Olson joined the Warren school system as principal of Jefferson when it opened six years ago. This summer he will continue taking more graduate work at Penn State College. He is working on his doctor's degree in Educational Administration. Holder of a master's degree in Elementary Education, he did his undergraduate work in that field, as well as in Health and Physical Education. Mr. Olson is secretary of the Elementary Principals Association of Pennsylvania. In Warren he will supervise Jefferson, East and Home Street schools in his new position."

"Mr. Mutsabaugh has been the principal at East Street school for several years, except for '57-'58 when he was a teaching principal of an American elementary school in France, Grades One to Eight at Trois Fontaines. This is his ninth year in Warren borough schools."

As an undergraduate at Penn State he majored in Biological Sciences, with a minor in History. He holds a master's equivalent of 48 hours in Biological Sciences, the requirement being 30 hours. This summer he will study the teaching of elementary French at University of Pittsburgh. Mr. Mutsabaugh will also teach in Pittsburgh at the Falk Elementary School for gifted children. This fall he will begin supervision of Lacy, South, McClintock and Seneca schools."

Boyle's Column

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP)—Why do people keep beating up on beatniks?

They're harmless—don't hurt anybody except occasionally each other.

They write, paint, publish, talk and don't care whether anybody looks or listens. Or if they do they won't admit it.

Male beatniks may wear beards. So did George Bernard Shaw, and so does Santa Claus.

Beachicks—the female of the species—may go in for sweat shirts and pedal pushers. Whose teen-age daughter doesn't?

Beatniks of all sexes may throw wild parties if by chance they can afford it. So? You should have seen the last "square" (beatnik term for nonbeat) party I attended in a supposedly sedate suburb. I doubt if the host has found his way out of the shrubbery yet.

All this comes to mind because of two recent events:

A bearded young man named Bill Walker has run into all manner of difficulty here because he wanted to open a coffee shop. That's right: Coffee. No booze. No marijuana. Just coffee, conversation and poetry if anybody felt like exhaling some—beatniks often do.

First the zoning authorities and then the police declared war on him. A neighbor actually fired four shots at him and his wife. He has every intention of opening his coffee house anyway. The squares can come or stay away, as they choose.

Then there is the case of a Chicago magazine. The Post Office Department is holding hearings to decide whether it can be sent through the mails.

til his salary reaches $5,000.

2. A child can expect to attend something more than a one-room schoolhouse. Prior to World War II, there were more than 2,200 of these. Now the figure has dropped to about 425. The last dozen years has seen Pennsylvania build 1,565 new schools costing more than $1,150,000,000.

3. School districts are receiving 34½ million dollars in state aid every two years to help finance transportation of school children who live more than a mile and a half from school. That's five times the cost of 15 years ago but many a daily long trek through the rain and snow has ended.

4. Special classes have been introduced for handicapped children at a cost of 10 millions every two years. These classes were only a theory for most school districts prior to World War II.

Yes, the real beatniks talk a lot and experiment a lot—sometimes at the risk of their health and sanity. They tend to scorn steady jobs and square people. But they are creating prose and poetry as Chaucer and Dante did in their day—enriching or detiling the language, depending on your point of view. And minding their own business. Just asking to be left alone.

NATIONAL FOREST ROAD CONSTRUCTION

Business and Finance

By WALTER BREEDE JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—Boom forces spurred the economy to new highs this week.

No matter how you looked at it, you couldn't escape the conclusion that May would go down in the books as the biggest business month on record.

Consumer appetite for cars, clothes, food, houses and corporate stocks showed no sign of letting up. Construction activity scored bigger than seasonal gains; business failures touched a new 1959 low; industrial production continued its headlong race to beat a June 30 steel strike deadline.

Machine tool orders racked up a massive increase over the recession lows of last year—a sign that heavy industry has decided it's time to start spending again.

With business booming all around, the Federal Reserve Board made a new move to tighten the screws on credit. The board flashed an okay to five of the nation's twelve Federal Reserve banks to lift their discount rates—the interest they charge on loans to commercial banks.

Commercial banks had been borrowing at 3 per cent, and loaning the money out to their customers at interest scaled upward from 4½ per cent—the minimum or "prime" rate charged the biggest borrowers with the best credit ratings. Now they'll have to pay the reserve banks 3½ per cent—the same as in late 1957 before the recession took over.

One effect of the higher discount rate will be to curb the fast growth of the nation's money supply, already swollen by rising demand for consumer and mortgage credit.

Its avowed purpose is to check the creeping rise in prices and costs that even in these prosperous times has strained family budgets.

Stock sales totaled 14,872,335 shares compared with 15,969,910 the preceding week. The volume was the smallest since the week ended Feb. 14 when 14,792,890 shares were traded. Bond sales in the latest week had a par value of $26,373,100 against $26,039,000 the previous week and $20,771,500 for the corresponding 1958 week.

Costs—particularly wage costs—were uppermost in the minds of steel industry leaders gathered here for the 67th convention of the American Iron & Steel Institute this week. Consensus of steel's big men: The industry must form a united front against the wage increases sought by David J. McDonald's United Steelworkers Union.

As steel wage negotiations recessed until after Memorial Day, both sides seemed farther apart than ever. The union stuck to its contention that high profits should enable the steel companies to raise wages without hiking prices. Management continued to insist that a wage boost now could be inflationary.

Chances of an early settlement were fading fast.

Steel's biggest customer, the auto industry, throttled down its production this week after turning out 1959 models at a rate that promised to put an inventory of one million new cars in dealers' hands by June.

The construction industry made news this week, and just about all of it was good. F. W. Dodge Corp. reported that contracts awarded last month for future construction soared to more than $3½ billion dollars—highest for any April and up 31 per cent from a year ago.

Residential contracts were up 48 per cent. Significantly, contracts awarded for new schools and new factories moved ahead, apparently ending a slump. School construction hit the skids some months ago after homeowners rebelled against fast-climbing property taxes; factory construction has been in the doldrums for a year.

Briefly over the business scene. Annual stockholder meetings were on the optimistic side this week... President M. J. Rathbone told Standard Oil Co. (N.J.) stockholders that earnings for the first four months of 1959 were up 20 per cent from a year ago... Gen. Edmond Levey, outgoing president of International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., forecast record profits this year... A record attendance of 6,000 is expected when the fifth World Petroleum Congress opens at the New York Coliseum Monday... The stock market, as measured by the Associated Press 60-stock average, finished the week at a new high... Red ink department: The total debts of all people, businesses and government bodies in the United States climbed last year to a record high of 770 billion dollars... You'll pay two to four cents more for electric light bulbs this summer. Prices go up in July... Toledo & Fixture Co. has a new customer—Sheik Fahad Al Salim Al

School Inspections Are 95 Per Cent Complete

HARRISBURG (AP)—Inspection of Pennsylvania schools for fire hazards is 95 per cent complete.

The State Departments of Public Instruction and Labor and Industry said a drive to eliminate school fire hazards has resulted in three school buildings being closed entirely and the upper floors of 20 being barred from entry or close. Appeals for more time to comply have been filed by 417 school districts.

The report repeated an estimate.

Proper Cosmetics Simplify Job

A girl can give herself a real lift with a trip to a beauty salon and a new hat. And while she's there, she can observe and pick up professional beauty tricks for use at home. This girl (left) will know how to give herself a more professional manicure for having watched the operator carefully. She asks questions as they go along. She has face powder custom-blended (center) while she's in the salon, for added touch of luxury. While it's being blended, she asks the operator why she is picking certain shades for her skin. And she learns that why a powder that might glow on her skin would be all wrong for the next woman. She makes intelligent use of her time in a salon so that she is not helpless between visits. And she tops off a wonderful day with the purchase (right) of a new hat. Her expenditure has brought her a new outlook.

BY ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor

It's relaxing and pleasant to go to a beauty salon and let the professionals turn you into a glamour girl. Yet, there's sure to be a day when you're facing a special date, and can't spare the time.

Don't despair. There are many excellent products on the market that will enable you to be a "do-it-yourself" charmer.

Be smart. While you're at the beauty shop watch what's going on. You'll be amazed at how many professional tricks you can absorb that way.

Take notice of the kind of curlers and clips that are used on the various sections of your hair. Buy them for home use, and you'll discover that you can set your own hair attractively.

Always remember that to do an expert job you need the proper tools. For example, you will note that face powder sold at a beauty salon is blended especially for your skin tone. You can get the closest shade in pressed powder to carry in your purse for touch-ups, but for a perfect make-up job, have your powder blended for you. One leading beauty firm included custom-blended face powder in its regular cosmetic line.

Many of us feel that we can't reach perfection in a manicure. Yet, with the proper tools, it is possible.

Again, look carefully at the method used when your nails are done at a salon and follow it exactly. Use an emery board rather than a file to reshape your nails. They'll be less likely to split at the top. If you feel you must on occasion use a file, always file from the center of the nail back toward the edge.

Naturally, your polish is the important finishing touch. So be sure to get a lacquer that has a smooth, hard finish.

There is a completely new idea in nail polish now available that boasts of freshness from the first drop to the last.

You've probably opened your polish only to find that the consistency has thickened because of the length of time it has remained unused. This new nail lacquer is divided into three miniature bottles that are used one at a time, thus preserving the freshness.

The kit includes a plastic brush with a cuticle pusher on one end, an emery board and a special liquid brush cleaner so that the brush will always remain like new. It is not inexpensive but it still costs a lot less than a professional manicure. It is said to have so protective a finish that it completely outdoes the use of base and top coat.

So, all things considered, you can, if need be, put on the glamour at home. You'll have fun doing it, too. Just be sure you have the proper equipment and that you've picked up a few helpful tricks from your visits to the beauty salon.

Take Tips From This Vacation House

BY KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

About the only thing modern vacation houses have in common with the old-time summer cottages is their location near inviting recreation areas.

The emphasis today is on lightness, brightness and openness. Materials used are picked for beauty and easy maintenance as well as durability.

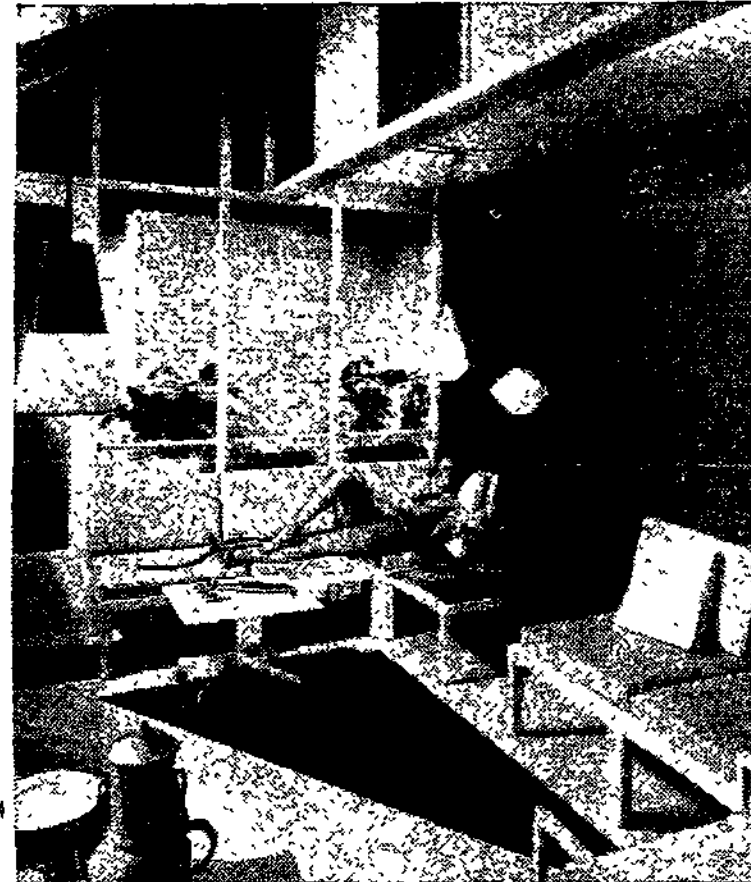

Although the day of two houses for every family—one for work and one for play—is still in the future, a look at the trend can turn up useful applications for the play area of the one house most of us have.

A model, modern vacation house, designed by Stamford Squire, incorporates ideas which could be transferred to a family room.

On the floor, for example, white vinyl tile is a background for brilliant red, yellow, blue and green semaphoric flag-shaped insets. This is a dazzling line-up of color that looks fresh and new; it carries the balance of pattern in the room.

To provide versatile seating and serving arrangements, square, white-framed bench-stools are pushed together to make sectional seating. Yellow, vinyl-covered cushions top the bench, but, when removed, the bench doubles as a table. The tough plastic is easily cleaned and resists scuffing. The cushions could be used as floor cushions, too.

Wall back of the sectional unit is marine-blue vinyl, and a clue to an interesting screen or room divider for a family room is an adaptation of the bright vinyl panels laced to pipes between the uprights which frame the house.

The bright colors used for the flags on the floor are duplicated in the low panels.

Republicans Plan To Run on Prosperity Theme in 1960

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's official now. The Republicans are going to run on prosperity in 1960.

That was the word passed to party workers Monday by Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky), the Republican national chairman. "The recession beat us in 1958," he said, but added "the prosperity of 1960—an awesome challenge for the Democrats when coupled with the peace we established and maintained—can and will elect us."

But while Morton was predicting that the national output may hit a half-trillion dollars, Democrats were forecasting dire happenings in the politically-potent farm belt.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, told his colleagues farmers are going to produce so much corn this year there won't be enough bins to store it.

An over-supply of corn traditionally is followed by low hog prices. It was this sort of situation, combined with the Republican 80th Congress' refusal to vote funds for storage bins, that was credited with helping President Harry Truman win reelection in 1948 with surprising backing in the farm belt.

Humphrey and Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) blamed the policies of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson for the prospective corn glut. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) voiced the opinion Benson is out to prove price supports won't work "if it costs 20 billion dollars to do it." Morton didn't mention the farm situation in a glowing report on the economy sent to Republican party workers. He said the economic recovery demonstrates that GOP policies are right and shows the Democrats are "wrong on every major economic decision."

South was a sufferer from an advanced case of the disease known as "Pass Allergy." He did not like to be shut out.

He had passed originally and in advanced cases of the disease a man who has passed once never wants to pass again.

Fortunately for North this was one time when he had the cure for his partner's disease. Four good trumps always come in handy when your partner stays at a suit at the three level and in spite of his aceless holding, North raised his partner to game.

There wasn't too much to the play of the hand. South trumped the second heart and since he did not want to give up trump control he promptly led the six and finessed dummy's jack. When that held South was able to make five odd.

Apart from the allergies discussed above it is interesting to note that if West had passed instead of bidding three hearts North probably would have passed also. Instead of chalking up a nice game South would have had to struggle to make two clubs.

L. E. Stolz

Many of the canyon bottoms of the South Western Rockies are familiar to me. Most of them are hot, dry and boulder strewn — the home of the mountain lion, and the ring tailed cat.

It was only recently that I visited the bottom of an Eastern canyon — the gorge cut by Pine Creek, and known as Pennsylvania's Grand Canyon.

I traveled the dry canyon bottoms of the South West on horseback or on foot, but floated down Pennsylvania's Grand Canyon on an Army Corps survival raft. As a member of a two-day float trip, with 17 other guests, I became intimate with a canyon that most people see only casually from lookout points on the rim a thousand feet above the valley floor.

The canyons of the South Western Rockies are spectacular, with their precipitous bare walls of red and buff, but they lack the charm of Pennsylvania's Grand Canyon with its forested slopes of bright green.

Mountain peaks and canyon bottoms hold a peculiar fascination for me. Each is a little world of its own cut off from the main stream of humanity. They are places where the visitor from the highly competitive world outside can find peace and contentment. But build a road down a canyon bottom or to the top of a mountain peak and you have destroyed the very things that make them unique. The quietude and charm give way under the onslaught of the tin can tourist, and the litterbug. An area that is easily accessible to all is sacred to none.

In a world of mass production, there is still only one Taj Mahal, and for three centuries men from all over the world have come to gaze in awe upon this architectural jewel. There is only one Mount Everest, one Grand Canyon of the Colorado

We need to preserve these quiet places of running water, forest and cliff just as much as we need to preserve the Taj Mahal, a famous cathedral, or a painting by one of the great masters.

When you stand upon the rim of Pennsylvania's Grand Canyon and look down into the gorge you are looking at one of Nature's masterpieces. Sun and shadow, the change of the seasons, and the clear rippling stream that flows over the canyon bottom, bring to life Nature's massive canvas. The gorge that holds you fascinated was carved by running water — the relentless tool that can wear away even the hardest rock. As you leave to go back to the crowded highways and cities you realize how brief is man's span upon this earth, and you think of Pine Creek — the little stream that has been gnawing through the plateau's great bulk for eons of time to create Pennsylvania's Grand Canyon.

"THIS WAS D-DAY --- I"

Assault on Easy Red Beach

EDITOR'S NOTE — "The first six hours will be the toughest," Don Whitehead, AP correspondent with the First Infantry Division, heard an officer say aboard the ship carrying them to Normandy on D-Day—June 6, 1944. And though those hours were, testing brave men to the utmost. Here, in the first of four articles on the Allied landings, a former AP newsman and double Pulitzer Prize winner recreates the drama as he lived it.

By DON WHITEHEAD

Written for
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first soft layer of dusk had fallen over drab, war-weary London, dropping a veil outside the patched windows of my Chelsea flat. The telephone rang and when I picked up the receiver Ernie Pyle's voice saying: "Hey, Don, come on over and bring your sitters. I'm lonesome."

I left the flat and found a cruising taxi which took me through Hyde Park to the Dorchester Hotel where I found Ernie in his room finishing a column. I helped him edit his story, and then we sat and talked of the coming invasion and the chances for success.

Later we joined a group of correspondents at the Savoy and made a round of London night spots. Behind the blackout curtains there was music, laughter, and a reckless sort of gaiety that overlaid the tension and the loneliness. Dawn was near when the party broke up.

It seemed I had hardly closed my eyes when the phone rang and a voice ordered me to report with my field equipment at an address near Hyde Park. Somehow I sensed that this was the beginning of the great adventure. When I reached the address, I found Ernie, Jack Thompson of the Chicago Tribune, Tex O'Reilly of the New York Herald Tribune, and friends from other campaigns unloading their gear from taxis. It was May 28, 1944.

We loaded into jeeps and were driven from London toward the Channel. We spent the night in a dreary temporary camp and then bid each other goodbye. I was taken to Weymouth and realized suddenly that I was entering the assembly area for the 1st Infantry Division with whom I had campaigned in Sicily.

The hours moved swiftly. Troops filed onto the invasion craft packed into the harbor. Bells rang. Chairs clanked. Booted feet clumped on steel decks. Ship loudspeakers blared commands. And then Gen. Eisenhower made his decision and the great invasion fleet moved into the Channel.

Not until we were under way aboard the Chase did I know our destination—the coast of Normandy. Col. George Taylor, commanding the 1st Division's 16th Regiment, unfolded the invasion plan. "The first six hours will be the toughest," I heard him say. "That is the period during which we will be weakest. We've got to open the door. Somebody had to lead the way—and if we fail, then the troops behind us will do the job."

As dawn washed away the darkness, we heard the bombers roaring overhead and saw the faint flashes of exploding bombs on the unseen shore. The loudspeaker voice called a boat number and our group silently clambered over the rail and down the rope net to the little invasion craft bobbing in the high waves. The storm that had swept the Channel the day before still was kicking up trouble.

Our tiny craft circled the Chase for a few minutes and then headed for shore, bobbing like a cork. I was sick and my mouth had the sour taste of vomit and fear. I looked across the water and saw an amphibious tank struggling through the waves. Then the water washed over the turret and it was gone.

Then we saw the beach. Easy Red Beach they called it. Shells exploded in the surf and machine gun bullets whipped up ugly little spouts of water. The roar of naval gunfire engulfed us and there were vicious hisses from shells whipping by our craft.

We moved in with the assault waves toward the jagged barrier of steel rails, barbed wire, concrete blocks and devices planted by the Germans.

The ramp of our craft lowered. We jumped into the surf and waded ashore, throwing ourselves behind a slight bank of shale where thousands of troops were huddled. It was the only protection against the blast of fire from the German positions on a bluff not more than two hundred yards from the water's edge.

Many officers were killed before their craft reached the beach. German guns poured a murderous fire on the craft at close range. Machine gun bullets cut down soldiers as they stepped from the ramps of the boats. Units were landed in the wrong places. Squads and companies were landed without leaders and the men milled about in an agony of confusion with no one to tell them what to do other than burrow into holes in the sand. And still they came, piling up on the beach, shoulder to shoulder.

Machine guns were set up at the water's edge. Mortar crews went into action with the water lapping at the base plate. An occasional tank lumbered out of the water like a prehistoric monster and stopped at the shale bank to blast the enemy.

I remember a wounded youth crying: "Oh, God! Please stop the hurt! Get me out. Get me out!" But there was no one to get him out. Men dug into the gravel with their bare hands until blood ran from their fingertips. Bodies floated in the water and stirred gently with the incoming tide.

I lay on the beach and thought: "This time we have failed. I wonder when they'll come over that bluff and finish this thing." But no gray-clad figures came down the bluff.

And suddenly I felt a strange sort of peace. The panic and fear were gone. If death had to come, then I must climb out of my hole and began doing what I could to help and to watch the bravest men I've ever known.

CHARLIE BACK AT CORRAL

Affable Charlie Young, Warren's best loved bandleader, returns to his second home Friday night and continuing throughout the summer. Warren's finest dance music will be a regular feature at Jim Suppa's popular Corral Inn. The Corral Inn, on the Tidouche road just south of Irvine, featured the Young orchestra this spring, and after a month's vacation, the band returns by actual popular demand. Jim Suppa aims to make the Corral Inn the spot for good clean entertainment any one can enjoy, and a relaxing atmosphere. Charlie Young, the poet of the piano, features music in the danceable style as played by his ace sidemen Booney Sturdevant and F. Pepke. The dance rhythms will crowd the dance floor from 9 until 1 each week on Friday evening.

Flood Committee News Letter

THE TREATY OF 1794: The Seneca Indian, in opposing the construction of the proposed Kinzua Dam, is emphasizing the terms of a treaty made with them in 1794. They freely quote the terms of this treaty, and by arousing patriotic emotions and appealing to the inherent fairness of the American people, have been successful in influencing many persons to look favorably on their cause. Yet, in doing this, the Indian is careful not to bring out the facts which made a Treaty of 1794 necessary.

For the fact is, if the Senecas would have been as concerned about living up to the terms of a treaty in those days as they are now, there would have been no need to treat with them and re-negotiate a treaty which had been made with them at Fort Stanwix in 1784. The treaty of Fort Stanwix was made at the time of the great land purchase which gave the government title to most of the land which is now northwestern Pennsylvania. One specific point of this treaty, and the land purchase it was a part of, was that the Senecas would vacate the area and allow the settlement of the territory to progress without interference. This they did not do. After the treaty was negotiated, many of them, claiming that their chiefs, Complanter, Halftown, and Big Tree, had cheated the tribes in the transaction, remained on the lands and harassed the settlers who attempted to establish themselves by raiding their homesteads and burning their buildings. Conditions within the territory had become so bad, with the Senecas showing no interest in enforcing their part of the treaty, that in 1794 Col. Pickering was sent to the Seneca Nation to straighten matters out. The direct outcome of further payments and negotiations was the Treaty of 1794.

Retail Sales To Soar During The Last Half of Year

An overwhelming majority of the nation's retailers anticipate that sales during the second half of this year will run ahead of the pace set during the last six months of 1958. A National Retail Merchants Association survey of 300 retailers operating stores with annual sales of more than $3 billion reveals:

Sales: Ninety-nine per cent of the retailers surveyed look for sales increases during the last half of 1959. More than half of these merchants expect rises of from 5 to 10 per cent.

Profits: Seven out of 10 stores expect net profits in the second half will top comparable 1958 figures.

Employment: More than half of the stores report their communities are no longer affected by unemployment problems. Of the 42 per cent who say unemployment is still a problem, more than two-thirds look for an improvement this year.

Credit: Ninety-nine per cent of the stores offer 30-day charge accounts and eight out of ten offer revolving credit. Fifty-four per cent of the surveyed stores report having opened charge accounts for teenagers. A fourth of these retailers are actively promoting the use of such accounts.

Store Image: Forty-four per cent of the stores are actively engaged in a formalized public relations program designed to build a special "image" in customers' minds.

Haddix Spins 3-0 Shutout Over St. Louis Cardinals

By JOE BRADIS
PITTSBURGH (AP)—Take it from Harvey Haddix of the Pittsburgh Pirates — it's better to spin a 3-0 shutout than to lose 1-0 after pitching 12 innings of perfect ball.

Haddix, making his first appearance since last Tuesday's heart-breaking loss to the Milwaukee Braves, blanked the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday night on eight hits.

In the greatest pitching performance of all time, the slim 33-year-old lefthander last Tuesday retired 36 straight batters only to lose 1-0 in the 13th inning.

It was a different story Tuesday night. Haddix didn't have the same pinpoint control but his teammates made up for it with two double plays and sparkling defensive work.

Shortstop Dick Groat, second baseman Billy Mazaroski and third baseman Don Hoak, whose error led to the loss to the Braves, turned in one gem after another.

The victory was Haddix' fourth against three setbacks.

Rowland Sent To Mid-West Class B

"Bud" Rowland joined Class B Mid-West circuit in Waterloo, Iowa, Monday, being transferred from Corning in Class D N.Y.-P League.

Bud reported to his former manager from last season, Elmer Yeter, at Waterloo. Yeter was Rowland's pilot when the 19-year-old pitcher was at Corning.

Rowland had a 2-1 record and a 2.35 ERA at Corning thus far this season.

Rowland signed with Boston Red Sox last June 13.

Knotted Intercity Game Gets Black Out After Second

Game was tied 1-1, a strong pair of right handers were feuding on the hill, and the lights went out.

Warren Rockets and Jamestown's Art Metal will complete their game in Municipal Stadium next Wednesday. An arc-line fuse blew after two innings of play.

Rockets scored their run top of first on a walk, Chuck Irwin's ground smash to right and a fielder's choice.

Art Metal came back in their half for the deadlock on a walk to Jack Wigley, his theft of

Swing Comes Naturally

By DOW FINSTERWALD
PGA Champion

Be comfortable and the swing will come naturally.

The swing must be strictly vertical. Start it by turning the left shoulder. All the shoulder all the freedom required for ease of movement. The left shoulder comes around under the chin on the backswing and the right shoulder comes around under the chin in the follow through.

Pause at the top and start the downswing slowly, gaining momentum on the downstroke so that you have maximum clubhead speed at impact. Do this and everything will work automatically. This promotes timing which is all there is to hitting the ball.

Swing the club back slowly and easily. The body will pivot to the right. The weight will be properly distributed. The left knee will bend slightly. The wrists will cock.

Starting the downswing the same way after the pause, the same thing follows. The wrists will uncock, unleashing their power. The weight will shift forward to the left leg.

The hips will pivot — first to be square with the ball at impact, then to turn away from the flight of the ball in the follow through.

NEXT: The short approach.

First Place Braves Regain Two-and-Half Lead in Race

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
What's better than pitching 12 perfect innings? That's easy: Pitching an eight-hit shutout.

Only Harvey Haddix can make that statement, however. Pittsburgh's slim southpaw a week ago Tuesday night pitched a historic 12 perfect innings, then lost in the 13th. Tuesday night, giving up eight hits and tiring in the late innings, he came home a winner, beating the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0.

"Winning is better than losing, anytime," said Haddix when he compared the shutout with that number, 1-0 defeat at Milwaukee in which he permitted just one hit.

With Haddix' first shutout of the season, the third place Pirates stayed within 4½ games of the National League lead after the Cards had wrapped up a 3-1 decision in the completion of a suspended May 3 game.

First-place Milwaukee regained a 2½-game lead over San Francisco as Bob Rush's five-hitter beat the Giants 3-0. Fourth-place Los Angeles fell 5½ games behind with a 5-4 defeat at Cincinnati. The Chicago Cubs were rained out at Philadelphia.

Lindy McDaniel's three-innings of one-hit shutout relief saved Cardinal rookie Gary Blaylock's third victory in the mop up of the suspended game at Pittsburgh. In the regularly scheduled game, the Bucs scored in the third against loser Larry Jackson (3-6) on Bill Virdon's double and Dick Groat's single, then added two in the fourth, capped by Haddix' RBI single.

Haddix (4-3) now has given up just one run — that chiller at Milwaukee — in his last 26 innings.

The Reds ended their losing slump at three with an unearned run in the eighth against losing Dodger reliever Clem Labine (2-6). Don Zimmer's two-base error, a pinch-single by ex-Dodger Don Newcombe and a sacrifice fly by Johnny Temple did it.

When the word predator is used in connection with wildlife management, people usually think of killers such as the mountain lion, bob cat and the coyote.

Conservation men think one of our commonest domestic pets is the worst killer of them all.

That is the ordinary house cat. "In my opinion," says a state conservation director, "the domestic house cat which has taken to the wilds does more harm to birds and small game animals than all the other predators put together."

Persian, Siamese and pretty angora cats become hunters and killers by night and wreak havoc among the birds and animals — especially at this time of year.

The problem is especially acute in rural areas, conservationists say, where cats can roam fields and orchards until dawn. Pheasants, quail, nesting doves, rabbits, and a host of other wildlife forms suffer from house cats.

Club Owners In Favor of Second All-Star Game

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The major league club owners have approved the players' request for a second All-Star game this season.

The game, which must receive the blessing of Commissioner Ford Frick to become official, will be played on Monday, August 3, at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The players will receive 60 per cent of the gate and radio-TV receipts, with the remainder going to the club owners, who would use the additional cash to aid youth baseball programs such as the Little League and Babe Ruth loop.

The players may possibly use their share of the cash to set up a pension plan for umpires and help former players not currently benefitted by the pension plan.

The players share of the first game, to be played in Pittsburgh July 7, goes into their pension fund.

said significantly that defeat of the three tax bills Tuesday night meant that there would be no attempt by the Democrats to keep them alive.

In effect, his statement left it up to the Republicans for the time being to pick up the tax bill.

Johnson described the statement as a "veiled threat" that was an effort "to stampede us to voting for the bills."

Two Republicans—Reps. Maurice H. Goldstein (Allegheny) and Joseph P. Rigby (Allegheny)—were known to have favored the tax measures.

They asked however that the showdown be postponed for 10 days until a study is completed on Gov. Lawrence's proposed $1,872,000,000 budget for the next two years.

Johnson informed the House that it was the GOP caucus decision to wait for the budget study to be completed before approving any of the 210 million dollar worth of taxes awaiting approval in the House. The three defeated bills made up more than half of that amount.

lence, it was hoped, should shortly disclose whether the Geneva meeting has any chance of success in easing the East-West dispute on Berlin and clearing the way for a summit conference.

The Western ministers met for an hour at U.S. headquarters. They wound up their strategy session a little more than two hours before another round of secret talks with Gromyko at Herter's villa.

An American spokesman said the "situation with regard to Berlin was not appreciably advanced" by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's statement to the Big Four conference Tuesday.

But British and French diplomats said Gromyko's speech was being studied with extreme care because it contained intimations the Kremlin may be interested in finding a way out of the Berlin deadlock.

British and French sources thought the next 48 hours of the conference — now in its fourth week — could prove to be the most critical of the parley with a Berlin deal and a summit meeting depending on the outcome.

Tuesday's conference session ran for more than three hours, resulting in postponement until this afternoon of a private meeting of the ministers originally scheduled for Tuesday night.

British and French experts cited four points in Gromyko's speech as possibly significant:

1. The Soviet Union, Gromyko asserted, is not asking the United States, Britain and France to grant diplomatic recognition to East Germany's Communist government, something the Western Allies adamantly refuse to do.

2. The Soviet Union does not question the Western powers' legal right to have troops in West Berlin although it considers the occupation of the city is outdated. Gromyko insisted some new arrangement must be made for West Berlin.

3. Although he again called for demilitarization of West Berlin under international guarantees, Gromyko said his government would agree to Western troops remaining in Berlin providing their number is limited and Soviet troops also are admitted.

4. Gromyko urged the Western three to join the U.S.S.R. in trying to "bring our positions closer together."

The government estimated the initial striking force at about 75; a rebel radio broadcast said it totaled 421.

Nicaraguan exile sources in San Jose reported all the invasion leaders had landed successfully by air and were directing operations. Among them was listed Pedro Joaquin Chamorro, managing editor of the Managua newspaper La Prensa.

Trailer Explosion Second Tragedy In Few Months

By HERB LINNEN

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — Tragedy has struck like lightning in this area for the second time within six months. Its victims — mostly curious spectators.

Eleven men were killed and 15 injured Tuesday when a propane gas truck involved in a collision exploded on heavily traveled Route 122, about 100 miles northwest of Philadelphia.

A tractor-trailer rammed the rear of the halted gas truck, setting it afire. Less than an hour later, while firemen were trying to put out the blaze, there was a thunderous explosion. Bodies were tossed about and utility poles ripped down by flying metal and debris, and by what was described as a "ball of fire" which rolled up the highway.

It might have been the cab or the tank of the gas truck. Both were hurled several hundred feet. Ten of the victims were among 300 spectators standing as far as 300 feet away. The 11th was a fireman.

The calamity recalled a similar tragedy in Allentown, Pa., 40 miles east of here, last Dec. 14. Several persons were watching a street fire from the porch of the Mountaintop Hotel. Flames ignited a gas line, causing a tremendous explosion that tore down the hotel. Seven persons were killed and 22 injured.

Wyoming Cowboy Held As Most Wanted Man

THERMOPOLIS, Wyo. (AP) — A cowboy on an isolated cattle ranch, arrested Tuesday while he ate, has admitted his identity as one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men.

"He seemed glad it was all over," Sheriff Eddie Todorovich said after he and Undersheriff David Schott surprised Hunt at a ranch 35 miles west of Thermopolis. "He said he'd be glad to get back to Oregon."

Todorovich said he and Schott were at the ranch and had recognized the fugitive from an FBI poster picture.

Tionesta Highway To Be Completed During Summer

The contractor on the Tionesta road under construction has pledged its completion by August 1st if the weather co-operates, according to an item appearing in the Titusville Herald.

The creation of a good road between Titusville and Tionesta has been a series of frustrations over a period of several years.

The road under fire in its two-thirds finished condition is open to traffic and barely passable. The uncompleted stretch is a two-mile section leading down Hunter Run into Tionesta.

The road is Route 38, the Colonel Drake highway.

Feeling over the apparent slowness reached such a fever point Monday that the Tionesta Lion's Club voted to take the matter directly to Governor Lawrence.

The job that made the Lion's roar was a news item stating that the contractor had been awarded another road contract while on Route 38 only a few men were working.

The forthcoming Oil Centennial celebration at Titusville also centered attention on the road's completion with many visitors expected to travel the area.

Governor Emphatic in Favor of Use of Radar

HARRISBURG (AP) — Legalized

radar would increase highway safety by providing a "silent sentinel" against speeders, says Gov. Lawrence.

The governor told his news conference Tuesday that his entire package of highway safety bills of which legalized radar is a part, "will give added strength to our policing system."

"For instance, no amount of personnel can furnish the constant surveillance over excessive speeding as can radar," Lawrence said.

However, he added that he did not intend the use of radar by the state police "as a cloak-and-dagger operation."

"The state police will not use radar to establish new arrest records for speeding," Lawrence declared.

tion. It was Eisenhower's first news conference in three weeks. He touched also on these other topics:

BONDS—Eisenhower said the administration has not decided yet whether to ask Congress for an increase in the interest rate ceiling on government bonds.

He confirmed that he discussed that matter—as well as need to raise the national debt ceiling—with congressional leaders earlier this week.

STRAUSS—It would indeed be tragic, the President said, if an issue of anti-Semitism should be seriously raised in the Senate fight over whether to confirm Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce, Strauss is a Jew.

Eisenhower had been asked for comment on what a reporter referred to as a statement made by Republicans that the anti-Semitism issue already has been injected into the controversy.
